

Supplementary Figure 4: Sequence similarity analysis among BASIDIN-related sequences from different organisms. Corrplot was constructed based on the distance matrix computed using the Muscle aligner built-in on MEGA software. The length of the circle indicates the coverage between compared sequences while the color indicates the correlation between similarity profiles according to other sequences. Closely related sequences were grouped using K-means. The arrow indicates the BASIDIN protein